

Larry Stopper spent 40 years in business before retiring in 2016. Now on the Board of Directors of the Nelson Heritage Center and the Lifeworks Project, he looks forward to working on food security and social justice issues, as well as hiking the trails of the Blue Ridge Mountains.